U. S. ACTION TAKEN ON HOSPITAL PLAN

Program, Which Includes Marion, Moves Step Ahead.

The way has been opened for the next step in Marion's effort to obtain federal aid for hospital building expansion, according to an announcement from Columbus today by State Health Director John D. Porterfield The Associated Press reported that Dr Porterfield stated the Marion hospital program will be part of a $40,000,000 hospital building program for Ohio.

"Formal approval of the Ohio plan," Dr Porterfield said, "permits the office of hospital facilities of the Ohio department of health to begin consultation with officials of high priority areas

A priority list recently was announced by the advisory council with sparsely settled and low income counties getting first chance at the program The government will pay one-third the cost of the hospital projects, provided the local community puts up two-thirds

"Approximately 36 states now have approved plans similar to Ohio's proposal," Dr. Porterfield said.

The director said "21 of the 74 hospital areas in the Ohio plan have been assigned high priorities for immediate participation in the grant-in-aid program"

"Ohio's share of federal funds amounts to $2,692,125 per year" he said The first two years of construction or a total of $5,384,250 of federal funds must be obligated under the hospital construction act within the next sixteen months Several groups possessing high priorities already have scheduled meetings to discuss and formulate initial plans to qualify in the first year of construction"

CHARGE ILLEGAL CLOSED SHOP

Government Lawyers Seek Court Order Against ITU; Union Counters.

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb 9—Government lawyers seeking a court order against the AFL International Typographical Union said today there is 'imminent danger' an illegal closed shop will become an accomplished fact in newspaper composing rooms to the "complete frustration' of the Taft-Hartley act

They told Judge Luther M Swygert that ITU officers have economic power to compel the nation's newspaper publishers to become "the un-willing partners to their unlawful pursuits" unless he issue an "immediate' temporary injunction to stop them

Those contentions were made in a 15,000-word "memorandum" which the office of Robert N Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board filed in court Denham signed it, also two of his top aides who came here for the injunction hearing

Attack Taft-Hartley Act

At the same time, in another memorandum prepared for filing today, ITU lawyers renewed their attack on constitutionality of section 10 (J) of the Taft-Hartley act, under which Denham's office is seeking the injunction.

They told Judge Swygert he has no right to consider merits of the proposed injunction until the constitutionality question has been entirely settled.

Today's opening session of the ITU injunction battle, the biggest and most complex injunction case yet to arise under the Taft-Hartley act, was expected to be taken up with arguments on three preliminary questions:

1. Whether the law violates the Constitution The union argued that the injunction provision is unconstitutional in that it confers other than judicial powers on the courts and makes the courts a

SENATOR TAFT STARTS SWING THROUGH WEST

Will Speak in Six States Holding One-Third of Convention Votes.

By International News Service

WASHINGTON, Feb 9—Sen Robert A Taft (R) of Ohio dropped his legislative duties today for a presidential campaign swing through six states which hold almost one-third the convention votes he needs for the GOP nomination

Taft's 'Lincoln Week' tour to the Rockies marked the opening of a drive to offset any Dewey-Stassen gains resulting from Gen Dwight D Eisenhower's dramatic withdrawal from the presidential race

The senate leader leaves Washington late today He will make at least 11 speeches in Illinois, Indiana Minnesota, Nebraska, Iowa and Colorado, returning to the Capital on Feb 17 He speaks tomorrow in Chicago and Bloomington Ill

Good Bag of Votes

These six states hold a total of 163 delegate votes of the 548 majority Taft must claim to win the Republican nomination in Philadelphia next June

An International News Service survey shows Taft now favored to get a majority of these 163 votes, leading in four of the six states.

Minnesota is a stronghold for its former governor Harold E Stassen while Gov Thomas E Dewey of New York appears to lead Taft in Indiana

Taft's appearances in St Paul and Omaha were expected to excite the greatest political interest The St Paul speech comes in the wake of Stassen's announcement that he will challenge Taft on his home grounds in the Ohio May 4 primary Taft called this a threat to party harmony and tried to dissuade Stassen from his bold step

The Ohioan's Omaha visit will put him on the scene early for the rough and tumble Nebraska preferential primary which comes on April 13 Stassen's declaration of war on Taft in Ohio made the senator's organization determined to swing hard in Nebraska where all candidates are entered without choice

Sounding Board for Views

Aside from the immediate political implications involved, Taft's mid-western trip is regarded by his lieutenants as another excellent chance to stress Taft's views on major domestic and foreign issues

Republicans generally recognize that in doing this Taft is laying down much of the GOP platform for 1948

Taft opposed compulsory anti-inflation controls and pushed through his "voluntary' bill in December, his supporters now point to the marked slump as evidence of normal factors at work. This example may well be stressed in his forthcoming series of speeches

Taft's itinerary of Lincoln week addresses includes.

Pope Pius Invokes Blessing On Jewish Relief Efforts

By The Associated Press

VATICAN CITY Feb 9—Pope Pius XII today invoked holy blessings on Jewish charity efforts

The pontiff received a delegation of 28 American Jewish leaders in Europe to survey the problem of Jewish displaced persons

The survey is part of the United Jewish appeal, which this year seeks to raise $250,000,000 to aid Jews in Europe and Palestine

The Pope, speaking in English, said "We gladly invoke the the blessing of God most high on all charitable endeavors you may undertake in His name.

"May His grace and love help all men to purge this dismist human sentiment and duty of all that could be unworthy of its author and thus bring peace back soon to His great human family and ours"

The delegation, which represents Jewish organizations in 16 American cities, is scheduled to leave soon for Palestine to inspect Jewish progress and resettlement there.

Critical of Atom Bomb

In an address last night the Pope described the atom bomb as "the most terrible arm that the mind of man has yet devised" and urged scientists to turn atomic energy to works of peace.

The pontiff, in an address before the Pontifical Scientific Academy, asked:

"What catastrophe must humanity await from a future conflict, if it is shown impossible to halt or curb the use of always new and always more surprising scientific inventions?"

Scientists from the United States, Italy, Eire Austria, Belgium and Portugal heard the Papal address Several cardinals and diplomatic representatives to the Holy See also were present at the ceremony, in Consistorial hall.

Strikes Out at War

Referring to St. Augustine's criticism of war, the Pontiff said if past conflicts deserved so severe a censure, "with what voice should we now judge those that have struck our generations and bent to the service of their works of destruction and extermination a technique incomparably more advanced?"

The pontiff outlined discover-

Thermometers in Marion skidded to a low of an official one above zero after a weekend of comparatively mild weather.

Along with the cold wave came a new gas emergency. Ohio Fuel Gas Co officials in a telephone conversation Sunday with C E. Sechrist, Marion manager, requested that small industries and commercial users, who had been permitted to use gas since the middle of last week when restrictions were lifted, once again be restricted and were asked to curtail the use of gas as much as possible.

Home owners using gas are being asked to cut temperatures to 65 and turn off hot water heaters, and all non-essential business places are asked to discontinue use of all gas "except that needed to prevent damage"

Forecast Fair, Warmer

RICHWOOD SCHOOL BURGLARS GET $12

Two burglars who gained entrance to the Richwood school building early Sunday morning by breaking a window of the boiler room got only $12 for their trouble, Charles Davis, village marshal reported today.

The burglars found after getting into the boiler room their labors had only begun. To enter the school cafeteria and superintendent's office they had to break two more windows. After entering the superintendent's office they rolled the office safe to the middle of the room and securing tools from the boiler room attempted to batter the safe open. Being unable to open the safe they searched the office, and discovering $12 in change in a desk, they left.

The burglary was discovered by Dewey Jordan, school custodian upon his arrival at the building Sunday morning to fire the boiler. Jordan summoned Marshal Davis.

The burglars left no fingerprints but their plainly visible footprints indicated there were two men on the job, the marshal said.

COMPANIES GET TAX REFUNDS

Shovel Co. and Electric Co. Included in Firms Making Overpayments.

The Marion Power Shovel Co. and the Marion Reserve Power Co., the latter now a division of Ohio Public Service, are among 17 firms and individuals in Marion and vicinity receiving federal tax refunds for the year ended last June 30, the Associated Press reported today from Washington.

Individuals and firms listed are those among 7,500 in Ohio for which the internal revenue bureau authorized tax refunds in excess of $500. Refunds were for overpayment of excess profits taxes and income taxes. In some cases, the refunds actually are tax credits which are applied on other taxes owed the government, the bureau explained. The refunds may be for overpayment covering several years.

Refund for Shovel Co.

The Marion Power Shovel company got excess profits tax refunds of $312,762 and $22,154.

The Marion Reserve Power division received an income tax refund of $26,058.

Three railroads with Ohio offices in Cleveland received the largest refunds. The Erie got back $12,799,953; the Chesapeake and Ohio, $7,860,621 and the New York, Chicago and St. Louis, $4,272,774. Their refunds were for excess profits tax overpayments, with the exception of $611,700 in income taxes included in the Erie total.

Vernon, $1,485,339; Federal Machine and Welder Co., Warren, $1,650,404, including $163,526 in income taxes.

Draw Interest

The overpayments draw six per cent interest which is included in the refund totals listed. Interest might not be paid for the entire time the government was in possession of the overpayment in cases of some corporations where war-time carryback provisions are involved, the revenue bureau explained.

Other area firms and individuals receiving refunds are listed as follows with (EP) denoting excess profits and (I) income:

Burch Corp., Crestline, $46,479 (EP); Crawford Steel Foundry Co., Bucyrus, $26,653 (EP); J. H. Friedman, of Tiffin, $11,337 (I); Walter J. Michael, Bucyrus $11,523 (I); A. J. Experts Believe Business at Peak

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 — A dozen top businessmen believe the peak of business activity has been reached, if not already passed.

But their two-fold prediction to government experts a week before the market break that (a) inflationary dangers are fading and (b) a price downturn is ahead, still draws a don't-be-too-sure reaction from at least one federal economist.

The views of the corporation executives were outlined at the first of a series of six meetings suggested by the government. These are being arranged by Prentiss Coonley and Ernest A. Tupper, private business consultants.

Reporting on the first session Coonley and Tupper said one big farm machinery company forecast a general price drop "after the middle of the year." Others in the group represented railroads, insurance, banking, merchandising and food processing. They predicted factory building will decline from 1947 but home building will hold up as costs decline.

View of Economist

The government economist who discussed the meeting with the understanding he would not be quoted by name commented:

"Much of what these business men say is true. We may be closer to the catching-up period than general price trends have indicated. But the inflationary current still is very strong."

Coonley and Tupper described the session as evidence of a "changing business psychology." They attributed last week's break in stock, bond and commodity prices to a "growing public awareness" of this change.

The business group generally agreed that a decline in business activity, "if and when it occurs probably would not be so sharp as in 1920-21," Coonley and Tupper said.

BABY BORN TO MOTHER UNDER HYPNOTIC SPELL. Shortly before she gave birth to a baby girl in Seattle, Mrs. Lynn Masten is put under a hypnotic spell (left) by Dr. Louis Gellerman. After the child (right) was born, the mother awoke at the command of the physcologist and reported that she had suffered no pain. The procedure was sanctioned by the family physician who called in psychologist and reported that anesthetics had been unsuccessful during Mrs. Masten's three previous confinements. The mother was conditioned to hypnosis for six weeks.

EVICTION HALTED. Facing eviction from their Stamford, Conn., home, Mrs. Anthony Risi, 31, with four of her five daughters, reads telegrams pledging help from Connecticut's Gov. James L. McConaughy and Stamford's mayor, which arrived after she had called the White House in an effort to enlist President Truman's aid in finding a home for her family. Although she failed to reach Truman, Mrs. Risi succeeded in talking with Rep. John D. Lodge (R), Conn. (International) into conflict with President Wilson on the conduct of the war. The senator stood strongly for military preparedness and opposed the League of Nations most vigorously. Prohibition he favored.

In Accord with Harding

With President Harding Senator Frelinghuysen was entirely in accord. While both were in the senate they became firm friends, and Mr. Harding visited the senator's 900-acre estate, The Hill, near Raritan, both before and after he became president.

Mr. Frelinghuysen married Miss Emily Brewster of Rochester. Three children were born to them. A daughter, Miss Victoria Frelinghuysen, early in 1927 forsook a life of wealth and leisure to enter the business world as her father had done.

Former Insurance Combine

In his early twenties, with the help of a former schoolmate, he engineered the amalgamation of 21 underwriters and organized Manufacturers' Lloyds. Started on less than a shoestring, the group gained control of other companies, the Globe, after a struggle, being its earliest acquisition.

After campaigning in '98 in Cuba and Puerto Rico with a skill and heroism that did credit to his Revolutionary ancestors, Mr. Frelinghuysen entered politics. Defeated in his first try for the New Jersey state senate, he ran again, won and was reelected, becoming president of the senate in 1900.

Having won wide repute in the legislature as a champion of school reform and agricultural aid he was named to make the fight against U. S. Senator Martine, Democrat, in 1916.

"Let the People Decide," was the Frelinghuysen slogan, tacked all over New Jersey as high as a man with a long hammer could reach. Providing hammers with extra long handles was Mr. Frelinghuysen's idea. He won.

Senator Frelinghuysen supported Senator Harding for president at the national Republican convention in 1920, but denied vigorously the report that Harding was named by "a small clique" of leaders.

OKLAHOMA CITY—Mrs. Fannie LaBorne, 84, believes it's never too late to start again. For the second time in her life, her home went up in smoke.

"I almost paid the taxes on it yesterday. Glad I didn't" she quipped.

A deputy fire chief described Mrs. LaBorne as "the most cheerful old soul I ever met."

TRAFFIC ACCIDENTS INJURE 6 PERSONS

Icy Roads Figure Among Causes.

Six persons, including a highway patrolman were injured in accidents in the Marion area in less than three hours this morning, as icy roads continued to take their toll.

State Highway Patrolman Walter Antone of the Marion sub-station suffered contusions of the right wrist and left leg this morning when his patrol car skidded at the icy intersection of Vernon Heights boulevard and route 23 near the Harding Memorial and slid into the side of a Greyhound bus which was passing on route 23. A Mr. McKinney, address unknown, a passenger on the bus was slightly shaken by the collision. The accident occurred at 9:15 a. m. today. Patrolman Antone received treatment at City hospital.

The injured were Geneva Davis, a passenger in the Yake car, who suffered a sprained left hand and Ruth who sustained lacerations of the head.

Three persons were injured when a car driven by Louis Taylor of Columbus ran out of control on a curve four miles south of Mt. Gilead at 7:30 a. m. The injured were William Kidd, 34, William Pate, 37, and Gordon Wright, 38, all of Columbus. They were taken to Sunbury for treatment. At 8 a. m. a bread truck driven by Daniel Robinson, 47, of Columbus was struck while parked on Main street, Mt. Gilead, by a car driven by Don Shipman, 20, of Mt. Gilead. Damage to both cars was slight.

Two traffic violators were fined by Judge Hazen in municipal court this morning after pleading guilty to charges filed by highway patrolmen. Rule Brown, 20, of Toledo was fined $10 and costs for speeding on route 23. Grace Ebright, 39, of Mt. Gilead was fined $10 and costs for driving on expired Florida license plates.

SAYS CIO MUST NOT BACK THIRD PARTY

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Feb. 9 — The CIO-United Rubber Workers union wants a 30 cents hourly wage boost for its 200,000 members.

The demand, comparable to that made recently by the CIO-United Automobile Workers, was voted here yesterday by a 200-man international policy committee.

The union's international executive board went into a week-long session today to determine strategy to be used in pressing the wage demand.

Contracts within the industry expire late this year but contain 60-day wage reopening clauses.

International union President L. S. Buckmaster said "the committee's action in asking for wage increases is simply an effort to restore the living standards of rubber workers, which have been steadily declining under the impact of rising living costs.

Delegates representing the workers lacked but an unspecified portion of the demanded increase be set aside for establishment of improvement of welfare funds insurance, hospitalization, sick and accident and retirement programs.

The present average industry-wide wage for rubber workers is about $1.32 an hour. The union won an 11½ cents hourly wage boost last March. Negotiations last summer resulted in the granting of six paid holidays.

STEEL ALLOCATION SHAPES UP SLOWLY

... only in a few cases ...e allotments been es... ...n certain products, it is ...makers must act soon.

the magazine's weekly summary of the metalworking industry said.

"Most delay in establishing quotas has been on sheets and strip, but some interests have not yet taken action on hot-rolled carbon bars either." Steel added, "and only within the past few days has any loosening up been noted on plates and shapes."

Steelmaking activities were still hampered last week by cold which delayed movement of raw materials and caused shortages of industrial gas. The estimated national ingot rate dropped 1½ points to 94 per cent of capacity. This was equivalent to production of about 1,694,300 net tons.

The magazine reported little change in demand and pointed out that cold-finished bars and stainless steel sheets appear even less plentiful.

"For the short term there appears little prospect of any material easing in the overall supply situation," Steel asserted. "However, looking beyond the next month or so, rising inventories in certain consumer goods give hint of progressive easing in supply of sheets and strip as the weeks pass."

CRIPPLED CHILDREN SOCIETY PROPOSED

Meeting Called To Consider County Organization

A dinner meeting has been scheduled at the Marion Y.M.C.A. for Wednesday night when representatives from various groups and organizations will consider forming a Marion County Society for Crippled Children.

The dinner is scheduled for 6:15 in the Varsity room, according to Earl N. Hale, Y.M.C.A. secretary.

In a letter to local groups and organizations Mr. Hale pointed out that through a county society various kinds of work now being done for crippled children could be coordinated, duplication of effort largely eliminated, new activities started and greater interest in the physically handicapped child and adult developed.

Mr. Hale points out that through the annual sale of Easter Seals, a considerable amount of money can be raised for the work done by such a society. Seventy-five per cent of this money would then remain in the county, he said. As it is now, all seal sale money goes out of our county.

Scheduled to be present at the meeting is Julian Gardner, field secretary of the Ohio Society for Crippled Children. Mr. Gardner will show movies of the crippled children's camp.

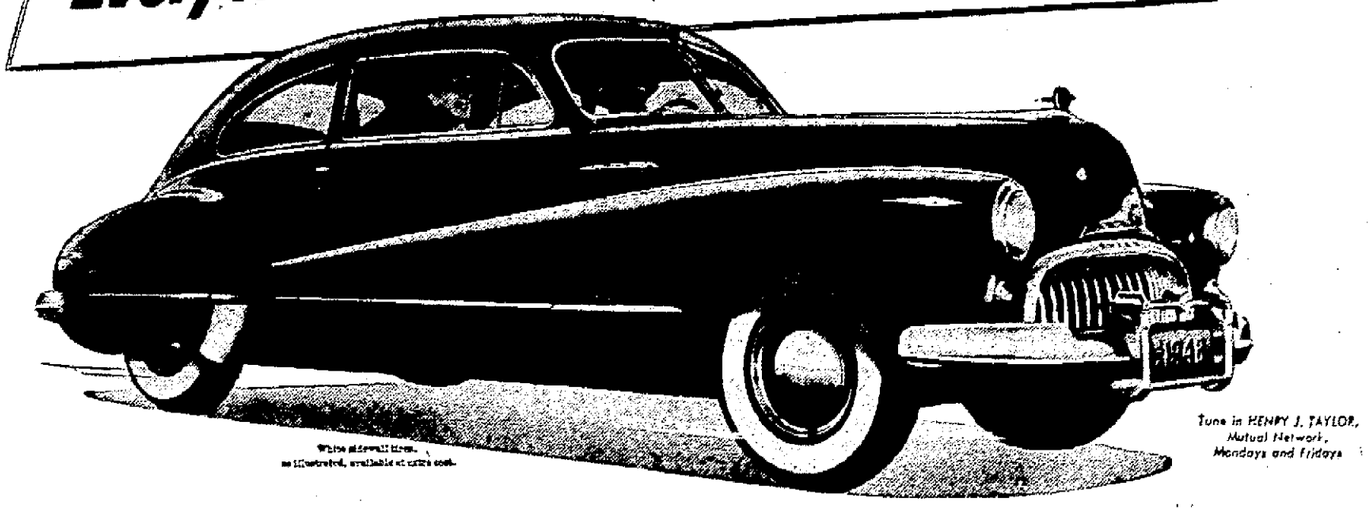
Everyone knows where this one's going



Tune in HENRY J. TAYLOR, Mutual Network, Mondays and Fridays

NO, it hasn't always been easy, here of late, to be absolutely sure just which way automobile design was heading.

So it's a refreshing thing, people tell us, to see one car that quite clearly knows where it's going — and shows it inside and out.

You can't mistake this poised and ready fashion plate for anything but a Buick — you're sure from a glance that you'll find it steady as a battle cruiser and full of ginger as one of Grandma's cookies.

A broad bonnet promises plenty-power—and you get it with such velvety new smoothness that you need to check the battery-charge needle to make sure the engine's running.

You size it up as comfortable. The road's verdict is that it's the most tireless car on the market, what with four coil springs, pillowy low-pressure tires and a wholly new attack on car vibration keeping you fresh through the longest day.

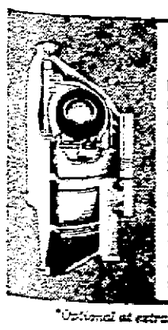
You find quiet here — quiet that encourages conversation — quiet from Sound-Sorber top lining that invites conversation in normal tones.

And if it's a Dynaflow Roadmaster you're handling, here you can sample driving ease that is near magic in its simplicity.

You set a lever, press the gas treadle — and simply steer. The power plant does all the rest — swoops you up from standstill to full pace, accelerates, climbs, slows to a stop, starts up again — all without any gearshifting, either manual or automatic!

So it's pretty plain where this one's heading — it's going even higher in the regard of the motoring public.

Why not see your Buick dealer now and get your order in?



No gears ever shift in DYNAFLOW DRIVE*

In Buick's new Dynaflow Drive, sliding gear transmissions and complex gear-changers are made unnecessary. You simply set a selector lever and step on the gas. The power plant does the rest, adjusting itself to varying driving conditions with utter smoothness. You start up — accelerate — climb hills — cruise — stop — start up again — all without touching the selector lever.

*Optional at extra cost on Roadmaster models.

Your Good Health

When Rest May Prove Injurious

Patients with rheumatoid arthritis, a disease in which there is so much pain in the joints, quite naturally tend to remain as still as possible. To insist that they exercise tender muscles and stiffening joints may seem like cruelty, but there is probably no disorder in which exercise is of more importance because gentle movement at the right time does so much to prevent the deformities and the permanent fixing of the joints so characteristic of this affliction.

During the early, acute phase, rest in bed is often desirable, but so many patients develop deformities during this time that it should not be prolonged one day beyond that is absolutely necessary. What is needed is a careful balance between rest and exercise.

It is important that proper posture be maintained through use of a firm mattress or a board under the mattress. Pillows under knees or shoulders should not be allowed, since this practice may lead to deformities of the joints.

While the patient is in bed, the application of heat to the affected joints and massage of the muscles may be helpful.

Muscle exercises can be carried out many times each day by the bed patient. Often, when the joints are acutely inflamed, gentle exercise several times a day by skilled guided movements given by a specialist nurse or employee. Of course, the movements should never be forced. During this time, such preparations as the salicylates, which relieve pain, may be administered so that the patient's ability to move will be increased.

It is only in those instances where the pain is quite severe that no exercise can be taken. The physician must decide in each case how much exercise the patient can take without exercise tiring or without producing an increase in the pain and spasm of the muscles.

The exercises should be arranged on a daily schedule and not just several times a week. The amount of exercise can be gradually increased as the pain disappears and the muscles become stronger.

It is also important in these instances for the patient himself to be convinced that exercise is just as important in his disorder as the use of medicine, and that rest for too long a period of time may be dangerous and lead to deformities.

The continued movement of the joints will prevent the formation of adhesions or bands of scar tissue which limit motion. The gentle stretching movements will also help to prevent shortening of the tendons which connect the muscles to the bones.

Taking Radioactive Iodine Simple as Drinking Water

By PAUL F. ELLIS
Copyright, 1948, by United Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 9—Taking a dose of radioactive iodine to treat a thyroid cancer is as simple as drinking glass of water.

In fact, that is what the patient does—drinks a glass of water. This water, however, contains a substance that is throwing off penetrating radiation.

Use of this substance, radioactive iodine, is breaking out of the experimental state at New York's Memorial hospital for cancer and allied diseases which is cooperating with Massachusetts General hospital. Radioactive idone is now being recognized as a routine treatment for certain types of thyroid cancer, particularly those types of cancer where the original cancerous condition has spread to other parts of the body, and will collect iodine. Such distant cancers are called metastases. In some such severe cases radioactive iodine comes into use.

Careful Preparation

A patient suffering from thyroid cancer—one who is likely to benefit by the new treatment—is carefully prepared before he receives his first glass of water containing radioactive iodine. Extensive X-ray pictures are taken to determine where the thyroid cancer may have spread. He is placed on a diet of low iodine content. This prepares the way for small tracer doses of radioactive iodine.

They are given to determine whether the distant thyroid cancerous growths will pick up the radioactive iodine. Some types of thyroid cancerous tissue will collect the iodine; others will not.

No matter where in the body thyroid cancer has spread, if it still picks up radioactive iodine, it can be detected by the Geiger counter, a delicate instrument that detects and records radio activity.

When it has been determined that a patient's thyroid cancer will collect iodine, the Memorial scientists move quickly to administer the radioactive substance. The radioactive iodine is in a distilled water solution, usually about three ounces. Technicians use long tongs to life it out of a lead container. They must guard against exposure to the radiactive material because, tragically, sometimes, many of the agents which are used in treating cancer are also, under certain circumstances, able to cause cancer.

Expert hands carry the radioactive iodine in its lead container to the bedside of the patient. It is again removed by the use of long tongs. The patient takes the glass out of the tongs and drinks the solution down. The glass is then rinsed two or three times and the patient drinks the rinsings. The iodine works fast, sometimes reaching the thyroid tissue in 20 minutes or less.

The patient realizes what he is drinking but rarely does he show any reaction, except that he knows medical science is trying to cure him. The solution with its radioactive iodine tastes like distilled water.

The radioactive substance travels through the blood stream, but not all of it gets to the thyroid tissues. Much of it is excreted in the urine. In the early days, when radioactive iodine was scarce, the separated excretion in the urine was readministered.

Eventually, most all of the radioactive material is excreted from the body. In many instances it is still "hot," that is, still radioactive, a substance that cannot be poured down a drain.

The procedure is to put it back into lead containers and leave it there until its intensity decays.

Arthritis Pain Curbed Easy Way

Recent medical tests by a prominent Chicago physician prove that most people who suffer from stabbing or dull, nerve-racking pains in the back, hands, legs, arms, shoulders and neck, due to Rheumatism, Arthritis, Neuritis, Lumbago, Neuralgia, or Sciatica can expect quick help from the remarkable medicine called Rominol.

Rominol is a tasteless internal medicine that usually works fast through the blood to help 3 ways: 1. First dose starts right to work curbing pain. 2. Helps nature remove poisonous excess acids and wastes from the system. 3. Helps you to work, sleep and enjoy life in greater comfort. So, if you have tried most everything without really satisfying relief, don't suffer another day without getting Rominol from your druggist. Satisfaction or money back guaranteed.

DOCTORS TAKE STRIKE VOTE

British Physicians Protest Operation of New Socialized Medicine.

By GLENN WILLIAMS
Associated Press Writer

LONDON, Feb. 9—The next six months in Britain may some day be known to history as the time of the "doctors' rebellion."

The issue is whether to take the nation's new national health service plan as it stands, or "strike" for concessions to the doctors' pocketbooks.

A strike vote now is being taken among Britain's 20,500 general practitioners. If two-thirds of the working doctors say they are willing to refuse service in the nationwide health system, the British Medical Association believes it can force stocky, stubborn health minister Bevan to meet its terms.

Bevan, a determined Welshman, insists the new health service, overwhelmingly approved by parliament, will begin as scheduled July 5. The new law is his pride and joy and the realization of a long-time socialist goal—equal and ample medical treatment for everyone, with no limitations imposed by a thin pocketbook.

Set Basic Salary

BMA leaders want to abolish the law's guarantee of a basic salary of 300 pounds ($1,200) a year to every practitioner who joins the health system, and substitute payment only by a fee for each separate patient.

The law provides a state-paid fee of at least 15 shillings and two pence ($3.04) for each call, in addition to the basic salary.

Dr. H. Guy Dain, chairman of the BMA's general council, protests that the basic salary is an entering wedge for the creation of a corps of doctors working for state salaries only and responsible only to a state ministry.

Bevan's view of that the basic salary makes doctors in the new health service independent by freeing the younger ones from any frets about the rent and other fixed expenses.

The BMA also is adamant against abolition of a doctor's privilege of selling his practice, usually for a sum around $20,000 when the doctor decides to retire.

Bevan has stuck by this provision as another way of promoting independence of young doctors whom he does not want to saddle with a heavy debt at the beginning of their careers.

Right of Appeal

The third thing the medical bigwigs want is the "right to appeal to the courts" against dismissal of a doctor from the public service. They assert that "the minister has too much power."

Bevan answers from the text of the law, which received bi-partisan parliamentary support and originally was conceived by the Labor-Conservative coalition during the war.

The health minister cannot dismiss a doctor. That can only be done by recommendation of an executive council and action by an independent tribunal of a doctor, lawyer and layman. If the tribunal decides a doctor should be dismissed, he can appeal to the minister.

The doctors must have their ballots in the mail by Feb. 14. The result may be known the following week. A BMA spokesman said the association "hopes" to obtain 13,000 or more refusals to take service under the law.

If the ballot turns out like the BMA hopes, it will leave less than 8,000 physicians to try to operate a health service open to every Briton who needs medical treatment.

Refusal to take service under the law holds certain penalties for recalitrant doctors. After the law begins to operate new applicants may have their applications refused unless they move from a heavily doctored area to one with too few doctors.

Run, Don't Walk

AN EXTRA pucker is added to foreheads already puckered over stock and commodity prices by comparisons with 1929. Is the current slump the symptom of falling prices, or isn't it?

The index of wholesale commodity prices in 1929 was steady as a teetotaler's hand on New Year's day. Common stocks, however, were going up and up and up. There would be a chicken in every pot and two cars in every garage, Herbert Hoover said — and people believed him.

Today the situation is reversed. Prices are flying with the birds. Common stocks are listless and getting more. There will be a depression sure as shooting, Harry Truman says—and people believe him.

Mr. Hoover was wrong. Is Mr. Truman right?

A lot of people would like to know. If you find out, run, don't walk, to the nearest stockbroker and spill the secret. He'd appreciate it. So would everybody else.

The Unhelpful Aide

ONE of President Truman's fast-talking subordinates has got himself out of line again. This time it was Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, who promoted himself to "chief armed forces aide," a post which existed only in the ebullient general's imagination. A White House statement was quickly forthcoming, explaining that the President's three military aides—Army, Navy and Air Force—would serve on an equal basis.

Never one to slight old friendships or forget old loyalties, the President has had Gen. Vaughan with him for years, first as a comrade in arms, then as a congressional secretary. On another occasion, Gen. Vaughan referred to Winston Churchill as "a garrulous old gentleman who never used 10 words when he could get 20."

The President might paraphrase an old saw thus: "Heaven protect me from the Pauleys, the Grahams and the Vaughans. I'll handle my enemies myself."

Good News at Last!

IN TESTIMONY before the house banking committee, the National Apartment Owners association has revealed the good news the whole country is waiting to hear.

The housing shortage, it says, is a "figment of the imagination."

Everybody who's looking for a place to live should take advantage of this unexpected announcement and prepare to move in right away. The book case can be put over there, next to the window. The papa chair beside the fireplace—no, just a bit more to the right—there. Set up the children's bed in the south bedroom and Pop and Mom will take the other one. Sign up with the gas and electric company, tell the man to leave two quarts of milk a day, arrange the dishes in the cupboard and there you are, all settle down in the dandiest little figment anyone ever lived in for less than $200 a month.

The Chinese Aid Puzzle

SENATE and house Republicans lost no time protesting when it was proposed that another $250,000,000 be tacked on the foreign aid allocation. That would have brought the total to the formidable sum of $9,333,000,000. Most of the extra quarter-billion would have been for China.

Administration policy on Chinese aid has been vague. The Wedemeyer report, whatever it contains, has been carefully hushed up. One token grant in aid has been made, and there are reports that the state department is preparing a plan for large-scale aid. Such a plan will be received with hostility if the reception given the $250,000,000 proposal is an indication.

If ever there was an operation rathole, China is it. Unlike the 16 European nations in the Marshall plan, China has no plan of self-help and couldn't put such a plan in operation if it had one. Such supplies as have been sent to China have found their way into the black market or have been dissipated ineffectually. Even Representative Judd of Minnesota, China's friend at court in Washington, admits the Chiang government is "a bad risk we must take."

America is not a bottomless cornucopia. The three reports on our interior economy, on which the Marshall plan is based, show that aid to Europe will impose great sacrifices on America. Token grants will constitute no real aid to China's 450,000,000 people. Any large-scale aid, conceding that the Chiang government might be able to utilize it effectively, would be the straw that broke the American camel's back.

Farewell, Bilbari

AMONG the 300 states integrated into India was Bilbari, which had a population of 27 and an annual income of $24. That means the annual tax bill averaged 89 cents per person.

The world never heard of Bilbari and there were few to mark its passing. Its government must have operated on the Jeffersonian precept that the government is best which governs least.

Farewell, Bilbari. Taxpayers of the world salute you. You were an anachronism, a holdover from the age of tribal government—and besides your system was too uncomplicated for this age.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Production Line Education Fails To Get Results.

IT IS generally said in this country that the urge to send sons and daughters to college is overall, but in the very poor family, the family that cannot afford to pay for higher education, nearly everybody tries to get the cost of a college education, which is $15,000,000 and more to make it possible. Nothing is said about building a practical type of competent men and women so that experience will mean a better guide than mere repetition of the memorized contents of other people's training.

SOKOLSKY

Two conflicting tendencies appear in our present-day colleges. The large colleges grow bigger each year, but they also function increasingly on the factory system with very little, in fact, almost no relationship between professor and student, no sharpening of the mind on the anvil of classroom discussion. Just as, at another period, the rah-rah boy was something of a nuisance, today the stodgy, almost stuffy junior, full of quotations drilled in authorities, his mind adjusted to electric-eye examination papers, reminds one of those Chinese students of old, preparing to become mandarins by making themselves dull.

Opposite Tendency

The opposite tendency appears in many smaller colleges that filled themselves to the rafters by the windfall of the GI bill of rights. These colleges have lowered their standards to meet the capabilities of mass learning with the result that many of those who come out of them lack even an elementary grasp of the language and literature of their own country, the history of their own country. So many are perfect examples of the half-baked. What they know comes down to good training in a degree of the rough-and-ready. Most they call a major. But they cannot by that name apply anything like the whole of human experience that have been treated, a thought process, a logic to be able to apply knowledge to thought.

The result is that so many of them cannot get the kind of jobs college men and women expect nor can they do the work the nation is now turned to expect from its college graduates. Professor Seymour E. Harris make the point in an interesting article in the "Harvard Alumni Bulletin":

". . . The colleges of the country are not now able to take good care of 2,000,000, and certainly not 3,000,000 students. At the present time they offer a deteriorated product. The assembly-line method of turning out A.B.'s and Ph.D.'s cannot bring good results. The colleges and universities now find themselves in an unsound financial position as a result of rising prices, costs and taxes, and declining yields on investments . . ."

Wasted Effort

Can this country afford a deteriorated product? Can we afford to waste the facilities of our colleges and universities upon men and women who lack the mental equipment for thought and leadership and who are not likely to provide a greater capacity for work in learned and professional fields after a tenure at college than they would have been able to do had they gone into their chosen fields earlier in life? Is the college merely a place to mark time? Does the student benefit by attendance even if the years so spent add nothing to his intellectual stature or his competence?

What seems to be the outcome of all this is a proletariat of the white collar, a proletariat that has trained itself for a satisfied and secured low income, sufficient to maintain the white collar, but insufficient for a stimulating life of leadership. It is interesting to note how many of the students today aspire for the low incomes of civil service positions where they perform clerical tasks for which girls out of commercial high schools ought to be adequate. Does one have to spend four years at college for that?

This question requires an overall study. For instance, some of the colleges mark stiffly, maintaining the highest standards; others use a fairly low class average. A grade of B in one college might be an A in another. The boy who picks an easy marking college might swing through with honors and give the impression of great achievement. That false picture is very expensive to him and to his country.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

Columbia U. is remodeling its "president's house" for General Eisenhower . . . I hear Ike remarked that other presidents were having balconies put in.

* * *

Naturally, Columbia didn't want to lose Ike to electoral college which plays its big game this year.

* * *

But Columbia has nothing to worry about . . . The Republicans couldn't get Ike to run any more than the Germans could.

* * *

In fact Ike is so non-running that he is my entry for "the walking man."

* * *

President Truman has been invited to address the friendly Sons of St. Patrick and might accept . . . The feeling is that he can use all the friendly sons he can meet this year.

* * *

Mr. T. hasn't said he will run. About all he says is "I will support the Democratic candidate whoever I might be."

An Attractive Long Shot

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

ASTUTE political bettors could do worse than get a little money down on a compromise on the European Recovery Program between the administration and the senate Republicans, followed by quick congressional action. Secretary Marshall is strongly disinclined to appeal to the country, without which ERP's congressional prospects cannot be improved. President Truman has materially worsened the congressional situation, by affronting the whole peculiar school of white supremacy southerners. And a compromise would not only save the ERP's bacon, it would also save the political bacon of the Republicans.

As to the nature of this possible compromise, it would be broadly that which was outlined in this space two days ago. Authorized ERP expenditures would be somewhat cut, most probably by reducing from 15 to 12 months the period for which money is to be appropriated. At the same time, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg and his foreign relations committee would endorse a full-scale ERP.

Secretary Marshall would chime in with his approval. Then, after the election, if the mutual appropriation of $4.5 billions to $5 billions had not proved adequate the ERP administrator would go to the new congress for a deficiency appropriation.

The virtue or defects of this possible compromise are much less impelling, in the present situation, than its political expediency. To be crude about it, political expediency will control the decision of all parties to the bargain.

Crucial Point

The crucial point is that everyone must agree in order to get agreement on a compromise at all. In other words, the State Department is unlikely to approve any departure from the original $6.8 billion, fifteen-month authorization from ERP unless Senator Vandenberg can deliver not merely himself and his committee but the congress as a whole, including the bulk of the isolationists. The congressional isolationists are unlikely to reduce their demands, unless a round-robin agreements puts everyone in the same boat, with some show of concession to them. And Senator Vandenberg is unlikely to take the first back at ERP unless Secretary Marshall goes along and the isolationists go along too.

This kind of circular negotiation, among men divided by mutual distrust, is always the most difficult. These facts make an immediate ERP compromise an attractive long-shot bet (and it is only a long shot).

Negotiations have actually been started by Senator Vandenberg; all parties to the negotiations have nearly equal bargaining power. It is to everyone's interest that the negotiations should succeed.

The bargaining power of the state department is the least apparent because it is long-range. None the less, it is entirely clear to Senator Vandenberg, who knows the facts of the world situation. A major Republican-led onslaught against ERP seriously impairing the bill's usefulness, will almost certainly cause serious political repercussions in Western Europe. The effects on the coming campaign may be imagined. If President Truman is able to point to a Europe in the process of being gobbled up by the Kremlin, and to blame the Republicans for this development, Senator Vandenberg therefore wants Secretary Marshall's concurrence in any major ERP change, from a lower as well as a higher motive.

Higher Motive

The higher motive, of course is the fact that if Secretary Marshall concurs in the change, the Europeans will be reassured that ERP has not been materially impaired. The lower motive is to safeguard the Republican party from future misfortune in the election, deriving from disasters abroad which would drive home to the electorate the folly of the Republican isolationists.

As for Senator Vandenberg, his bargaining power vis-as-vis the state department is obvious. If, at any moment, he chooses to tell the department, "This is the absolute best I can do," the department must accept what he says. But Vandenberg also possesses bargaining power with men like Senator Robert A. Taft, who do not as yet understand the political dynamite with which they are playing abroad. But they clearly understand the danger at home of a party split on a big issue in an election year. They have signified this understanding by indicating already that any compromise that will save their faces will be entirely to their tastes. Finally, the bargaining power of the isolationists derives from the fact that in the present chaotic, lackadaisical congress, they can do ERP exceedingly serious damage if they have a mind to.

It can be stated that these down-to-earth considerations have already been reviewed by Senator Vandenberg and Secretary Marshall's representatives. The likelihood of compromise now turns on one simple question. Can Senator Vandenberg be reasonably sure of prompt, affirmative congressional action on any plan he and Marshall's men work out? If he can offer this assurance the betting will change to odds-on.

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Wednesday, Feb. 9, 1938.

President Roosevelt was expected to ask congress within the next day or two, to appropriate between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 for relief during the following five months. Midwest mayors visiting the White House urged the president to request $400,000,000.

The Waldo school was closed for the day as the result of theft of two motors which operated the heating and ventilating fans and the water pump.

Marshall Plan for Peace

By Walter Lippmann

IT IS now probable that the net result will be a decision to set up the machinery of a European Recovery program, to provide funds to start it, leaving it to the new congress next winter to decide whether and how far it is to be carried on. A lot of extraordinary things would have to happen quickly here and abroad to bring about a larger and bigger commitment than that.

The whole project would have to be lifted from the plane of dollar-deficits-cum-Communist-menace to that of European-union-and general settlement. For only a very big political idea could be the soul, only great political measures could be the life and energy, of so great a material undertaking as the whole Marshall plan calls for.

LIPPMANN

Failing that the program can be only what it now is—one item among many which compete for the attention of congress and the people, one charge among many upon the revenues of the government and the income of the nation. Though its wisest sponsors did not intend it, the ERP has been presented as a mixture of relief and anti-Communism. As a relief measure it has to complete with relief for China, relief for many distressed localities and interests in the United States, relief for the taxpayer, relief for the victims of the inflation. As an anti-Communist measure it has to compete with our enormously expensive military establishment, with the proposals for a huge expansion of the strategic air force, with universal military training, and with the whole bag of commitments and tanglements in Greece, Turkey, Iran, western Germany, Korea and elsewhere.

Lack of Logic

If, as is true, congress and the people are favorable to the Marshall plan but not passionately favorable, it is because the statesmen of the western world have offered them very little to be passionate about. Mr. Marshall has been told that the way to create a sense of "urgency" is to make another speech, or another two or three speeches, about the horrors and dangers of Communism, and to publish some more documents and some intelligence reports. It would not help the Marshall plan at all. For if he persuaded the American people that they are on the verge of war with Russia, it would be hard to persuade them to take much interest in rehabilitating the industries of western Europe just before the Russians seized them. The Marshall plan makes no sense as a war measure; if we are preparing for war, the industries that need our attention are our own, those which can be securely defended.

It is only as an investment in peace, as an engine for the settlement of the last war, as the incentive to the unification of Europe, that the Marshall plan can be justified honestly, or made intelligible, or administered successfully, or promoted so that our people will make the sustained effort that the program calls for. But neither the state department nor the British foreign office has as yet faced up to the basic decisions of high policy, or gone very far toward examining them much less negotiating about them.

That is why the supporters of the ERP are unable to generate within themselves a conviction of passionate urgency, and to communicate it to congress. They realize that the decisions have not yet been taken in Europe which will have to be taken in order to support the long program and the large commitment to underwrite the European deficit with this hemisphere and the outer world. That is why congress will now do no more than to make a beginning, and then we shall see whether in the months to come there is progress toward that European unity which the program calls for, and Mr. Bevin has recently begun to talk about.

Cooperation Needed

For this country will not be able to underwrite the recovery of Europe until Europe is something more than a group of disgruntled states.

We must not underestimate the difficulties which the European governments must overcome in achieving a greater unity. But it is clear enough, I think, where the greatest difficulty lies. It is in Germany. That is where Mr. Bevin's "western union" is going to founder unless he and Mr.

The Laugh Returns to Broadway

A wonderful and fantastic thing has happened to legitimate business. Laughter is now welcome in the...

After five or six years of pretentious musicals with the emphasis on sight exploitation and the super-duper ballet, comedians are being employed again and no offense taken by the management if a main customer laughs out loud.

PHILLIPS

Things had reached a point in musicals where the mere presence of a part for a comedian was enough to bring a buzz for the bouncer. The belly-laugh has been forsaken for the ballet-laugh. Any musical was classed as good if it had enough weird-looking refugees from a kindergarten running and romping all over the stage doing things nobody could interpret without a scorecard.

* * *

Leaving out the comedians was correct. There wasn't room on the stage for them.

* * *

The whole tradition of the American comedy has been regurgitated, blitzed and thrown into the alley. A couple of shows made tremendous sensations without a laugh in them. Broadway's producers went for the new musicals. If one looked artistic and refined, it was the goods.

* * *

Season after season the customers got nothing in musicals but entertainment. They had made ballet-groggy. When they forked over their dough for a new musical they knew they were backing up for a fresh load of cute gymnastics, high jumps, low glides, a couple of good musical numbers and probably a mess. But positively no laffin'.

* * *

It all started with "Oklahoma!" This happened to prove a swell evening in the theatre without much laughter. "Bloomer Girl" followed without any. Then we got a whole run of it up to and including "Allegro," the significant musical to end all significant musicals. A couple of seasons back "Call Me Mister," and "Annie Get Your Gun" brought the laugh back to the theater, and was a great success, but the producers weren't convinced. They still went for things like "Finian's Rainbow," which was cute but no side-splitter, and "Brigadoon," which was lovely but funless.

* * *

Suddenly along came a parcel of musicals which shed all pretense, pomposity and messages stuff and went in for the old-fashioned routines, let the corn fall where it might. The Hartmans came in with an inexpensive, filmsy little thing that had nothing but good entertainment and began packing 'em in. A producer who rates a red badge of courage dared to go for an old-fashioned musical revue with funny skits and burlesques of other shows, and it became the hit of the year, "Make Mine Manhattan."

* * *

In between came "High Button Shoes," corny and gaggy, but full of good, clean fun. The tide had turned, Allah be praised. Other laugh shows are on the way to Broadway. The poor theatergoer who has been starving for entertainment is being rescued. And no Marshall plan!

The Broadway Bugle and Banner

Martha Graham is about to open a New York engagement at the Maxine Elliott theater. Is not at the "Broadhush"?. . .Know the name of the next re-bop concert for the jazz fanatics at Carnegie Hall?. . ."The St. Valentine's Day Massacre!". . .It'll kill ya. . . .The Ziegfeld Theatre was twenty-one years old this month and has seen a lot for its age. . . .It seems to ye ed that the top radio comedians have developed their programs to a point where most of the laughter is confined to the studio audience. . .No matter what New York may think of it "Mister Roberts" is a sensation in the sticks.

We stick to our claim that radio's "The Walking Man" is Gene Tunney, as we said and explained before the contest was two weeks old, but Peter Donald insists it is the Lone Ranger. Johnny Martin picks Jimmy Savo, and Dan Schulman says he can prove it is Joe Louis.

Thomas Lamont, world-famous House of Morgan head, who died the other day, was a great "smalltown boy makes good in city" case. He was born and raised in a town rarely heard of, Claverack, N. Y., up in the region of Scenic ties, Coxsackie, Roundout and Gohen. If you were to pick the typical small town Claverack could be it. Yet the boy, Tommie Lamont of Claverack, became the Lamont of the earth.

Pump for Liberty!

By TRUMAN TWILL

World War II now is officially at an end. Precinct H. The stirrup pump that was to end this sad sack of an air raid warden to have an incendiary bombs in attics finally has been received. It closes a stirring chapter in the Saga of Democracy.

When the resolute men in the iron hats were called together to receive instructions on approved means of resisting the potential fires on the home front, the pumps were the point of resistance. All the other stuff—the coils of rope, the double-bitted axes, the ladders, sand bands, flashlights hooded with red Cellophane and the forms to be filled out by the wardens and their saviors—were incidental.

The stirrup pump was the thing. Hi-ho the A dauntless warden would crouch with trusty pump at the head of the attic stairs and play a fine spray of water over the white thermite bomb with which the enemy arsonists would try to blot out the fairest civilization that ever bloomed. Behind him would be arrayed the helpless women, children and old men, all putting their faith in the expert who saw him and knew how to do it.

The bucket and the shovel of sand. . . never were taken seriously. Wardens ran in the pumps. They had played with the fire hose, they knew and valued the power of it. They had a kindred feeling for hardy pumps. Yup, the stirrup pump was going to save America.

When word filtered through the dense fog of wartime censorship that the pump was about to be issued, morale soared. The wardens sensed that the enemy would break into a cold sweat at the thought of unbroken ranks squirting water. As the fear began to recede. The wardens were glad. Let 'er rip!

But one thing led to another and it came to nothing at all, and for reasons too dull to go into here the pump assigned by the hats of civilian defense to Warden and Home Guard went astray. It would be as far astray as the tools of war abandoned on the Pacific atolls if moving day hadn't preserved it in the basement arsenal of the chief pump of the fairest neighborhood that ever blessed etc.

Once found, it was bestowed with ceremony on the man who was prepared to pump it dry in defense of the American way. duty meant death itself. It was carried reverently to its station and will be in working order in time for World War III, if such there must be. Enemy papers please copy. We are ready. Gridley

Mrs. Taft Goes West To Campaign For "Best Man for the Presidency"

By DOROTHY WILLIAMS
United Press Writer

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9 — Martha Taft admits she is better at politics than at pies.

The plump and homey wife of Sen. Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio)—who looks as though she could ...blend a tasty pastry—plans to demonstrate her campaigning talents this week in St. Paul, Omaha, Council Bluffs and possibly Denver.

Mrs. Taft

She will address women of these cities while her husband is talking to their menfolk.

Mrs. Taft is now as she was in 1940 the only candidate's wife who is actively stumping to get her husband into the White House. Even Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt shunned out-and-out campaigning.

The Tafts are well known as a campaigning team in Ohio and to a lesser degree elsewhere. She specializes in telling how "Bob" feels about various issues, and that invariably is how she feels, too.

Too Many Bureaus

She attacks the New Deal for developing a "nigh-boy" government because it is one bureau on top of the other.

"The torch of liberty is like furnaces and husbands," she told a woman's group recently. "If you don't do something about them, they will go out."

It's natural for Martha Bowers Taft to know a lot about government. Her grandfather was Thomas Wilson, one time chief justice of Minnesota. Her father was Lloyd W. Bowers, who until his death in 1910 served as U. S. solicitor general under her father-in-law, President William Howard Taft. She grew up in Chicago before moving to Washington.

She married Taft after a White House courtship. They first met while he was a student at Yale and she was attending Rosemary school in Greenwich, Conn., where she later taught Latin briefly.

For a long time Taft was just a name on one of her old school dance programs.

"We weren't particularly impressed with each other," she recalls.

But it was a different story by the time he proposed a few years later while they were dining at the old Dower House, then the favorite one-and-dance spot of young Washington.

Now the mutual admiration is obvious. Once when asked for three reasons why her husband should be president, she promptly replied:

"Brains, character and experience."

Liquor Inspectors Get Two Stills in Raids

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 9—State liquor inspectors grabbed two stills in 42 raids last month on non-permit holders.

Sixty seven permit holders were cited for alleged liquor code violations. District-by-district enforcement reports include:

OHIO INDUSTRIALIST DIES

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 9—S. P. Bush, 68, retired industrialist, who directed the first war chest drive in World War One, died yesterday. Bush was president of the Buckeye Steel Casting Co., here from 1905 to his retirement in 1927.

200 ATTEND ANNUAL INTER-RACIAL RALLY

Columbus Attorney Speaks at Wesley Church.

Approximately 200 attended the annual inter-racial rally sponsored by the social committee of the Marion Council of Churches, which was held Sunday night in Wesley Methodist church. The speaker was Frank Shearer, Negro attorney of Columbus. Special music was a part of the program. Dr. Shaw A. Brown, host pastor, was in charge of a question forum period which followed.

Mr. Shearer declared the church cannot be called a true Christian until it seeks to stop the barriers of prejudice and discrimination of race, religion and class. He said, "Negroes are not after social equality, for in the sight of God they have equality already. The Negro wants only what other men want—freedom, opportunity to make a living and happiness for himself and for his family."

In closing the forum period Dr. Brown declared that "When we as Christians get to heaven, we will not find different races nor one race expected to be servants of another. Therefore we had better get used to getting along together in this life for the next." Dr. G. D. Chenault, pastor of the Park Street A.M.E. church, led an opening devotional service, and music was by Miss Delores Coxes, soloist of the Mt. Zion Baptist church, and a Novelty trio composed of Misses Anna Lou Clemens, Delia Tyler and Arvanna Reed, representing various churches. Mrs. Margaret Beverly was in charge of the music.

Beware Coughs Following Flu
After the flu is over and gone, the cough that follows may develop into chronic bronchitis if neglected. Creomulsion relieves promptly because it goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm, and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough or you are to have your money back.

Teach good telephone manners
Children who are taught the correct way to use the telephone are a joy to everyone. Their good telephone manners save other callers' time and tempers. Telephone-wise children do not tie up the lines with needless talking. They know the telephone is not a plaything. We are grateful to the many parents in our community who are teaching their children such good telephone manners. This cooperation helps us improve our service to everyone.

ACCIDENTS INCREASE IN PATROL DISTRICT

Records of the Ohio State patrol District A covering 24 northwestern counties including Marion county, show a marked increase in traffic accidents in the month of January.

Figures submitted by Lieut. S. D. Augenstein from district headquarters at Findlay show that 1948 got off to a bad start with 244 accidents in which 21 persons were killed and 154 injured.

Compared with January 1947, last month's figures show an increase of 20 in the number of accidents, of five in the number of fatal accidents, of 14 in number of persons killed. The number of persons killed is treble the number for the corresponding month in 1946.

Traffic arrests for the past month soared to a high of 562, more than double the figure for January 1946 and 252 more than a year ago January increasing in similar proportion was the number of written warnings issued. The January figure of 3,125 is a startling increase over the 482 issued during January of 1946.

None of the fatal accidents occurred in Marion county. They were distributed as follows, two each in Hardin, Fulton and Van Wert counties and one each in Wood, Erie, Crawford, Morrow and Allen counties.

Three of the fatalities 244 accidents involved school buses and occurred in Morrow, Allen and Seneca counties respectively. None were killed or injured.

Cold and Hungry, Man Gives Up as Fugitive

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., Feb. 9 — Milton Holland 27, was "cold and hungry" last night, so he decided to quit being a fugitive from the Indiana state reformatory. He walked into the police station here and surrendered.

Holland and a companion, Joseph L. Kepler, 28 "walked away" from the Pendleton, Ind., reformatory Saturday night.

Kepler was captured at Shirley, Ind., when a war veteran shot at the convicts as they attempted to steal his car. Kepler was taken to an Indianapolis hospital with about 50 birdshot in his body.

Holland said he ran into a railroad yard and hopped a train for Springfield.

"But I was cold and hungry so I decided to give myself up," he explained to police.

Consider Community Center for Galion

Special to The Star

GALION—That progress is being made in plans for a Community Center for Galion was evidenced Friday when representative citizens met with a committee of the Business and Professional Women's club in the Professional building.

Tentative plans were formulated regarding procedure to be taken in laying the ground work for construction of a Community Center building. Miss Margaret Lorig, representing the BPW, presided for the meeting. Building plans, as well as possible sites, were discussed by the group of 12 men and women present. An architect who contributed his time offered suggestions for procedure in such a project. He cited similar buildings in other towns the size of Galion and suggested that a representative group visit these community centers for further ideas.

Another meeting to further plans was set for Friday at 7:30 p. m. in the BPW room to which representatives of all civic, fraternal, and religious groups of the city will be invited. Organizations are urged to send representatives to the meeting for the purpose of effecting a permanent organization to back the project.

LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

CARPENTERS "HOLD THE LINE"

Editor of The Star: Marion carpenters are heroes unsung. At least that is the word coming from the office of local carpenter AFL No. 976 located at 146½ South Main street, when reports leak after three special called meeting of the entire body, and much discussion of the matter, it was decided to hold the line on wages to the same scale as was in effect during 1947—at least for the first six months period of 1948.

It was also noted that this scale of wages at $1.75 per hour or 25 cents less than several other neighboring Ohio cities, one of which received the attention of both the radio and press in the past few days.

The carpenters were hoping that other local and national interests will cooperate and follow this example, and states that it will be impossible to maintain this present wage scale after July 1, 1948, unless all other industries fall in line with this movement to halt inflation.

President Marion Local AFL No 976.

VFW Asked To Back Uniform Pension Law

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 9 — Omar Ketchum, national legislative officer of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, asked Ohio VFW members yesterday to support a uniform pension bill now before congress.

"The present system of pensions is a piecemeal hodgepodge through which all veterans are not treated alike," Ketchum told delegates to the 36th annual midwinter Ohio VFW conference.

Lt. Gov. Paul Herbert charged partisan politics were preventing to turn state appropriations to service organization in a "political football." He blasted a proposal that a state bureau be established to handle veterans services now provided by VFW and other veterans' groups.

Marshall review and revise drastically their present conception of the structure of Germany. For there is no way that a centralized Reich can be fitted into a European confederation; it would be too big, too dangerous, and much too unreliable.

A western union which includes a centralized German government in the British-American zones can never be formed. The Scandinavians would not, the French will not, the Italians dare not, join it. But though this German policy will prevent a western union, it will promote and consolidate the eastern union. As long as the English-speaking nations show so little knowledge of the realities of Europe that they promote the recreation of a centralized German Reich, the Czechs and the Poles will be riveted exclusively within the Soviet orbit.

These high matters will have to be faced and dealt with decisively if there is to be progress toward the unification of Europe and a settlement of the war. Lots of very good work has been done on the statistics of European recovery. Now the statesmen might well take over from the statisticians.

In Loving Memory of

★Our dear wife and loved mother Bee M. Martin, who passed away Feb. 9, 1945

We cannot think of this sad day
Who walks with us no more
Along the path of life we tread—
She who has gone before;
And still her silent ministries
Within our hearts have place
A warmer earth she walked with us
And met us face to face.

MACKENZIE

There ...ter night in Dublin when ...aunt college professor ...ing at the British troops ...a window of Boland's Mill ...in the heart of the city, while your reporter was in the hands of the military—suspected of being a rebel because of an inadvertent violation of rigid martial law.

De Valera was condemned to death and reprieved. For more than an hour the British debated my execution, for they were shooting folk for doing exactly what I had done—but my American papers finally saved me.

Well, that's the way De Valera got his start toward the prime ministership, for he was one of the chief founders of the republic. He also has been in international figure for many years, and in 1938 was president of the League of Nations assembly. Not all his foreign relations have been happy, for both America and Britain were angry over his refusal to grant them naval bases on the coast of Eire during the war, and Washington accused Eire of affording a base for axis spies by refusing to expel German and Japanese diplomats.

HOWEVER, DE VALERA is a man of strong opinions and not easily moved. He clung to neutrality. The last time I saw him in Dublin—in late 1945—I asked him rather bluntly if Eire's refusal to join England in the war wasn't largely due to bitterness against the British. He didn't say yes and he didn't say no, but my personal opinion is that this bitterness was the chief reason.

So far as home affairs go, De Valera has wrought a vast change in the economic life of Eire. Years ago I used to spend much time in Ireland, both as a reporter and fishing on her beautiful lakes and streams. The Emerald Isle was lovely to look at and her people were friendly and hospitable—but the farmers and workers as a whole were terribly poor. In many rural districts the main food was potatoes, with a bit of salt, and maybe a little bread. Meat was a rarity to make young eyes glisten. Hunger was widespread.

CATTLE RAISING for the English market was the chief industry, and agriculture was neglected so that most grain, including wheat for bread, had to be imported. De Valera struck at this system (... I created a good deal of hostility among the cattle men). He called for a heavy increase in grain and sugar beet production, with special emphasis on wheat for bread, and the government made cultivation attractive by offering a guaranteed and profitable price for both wheat and beets.

The total area under tillage was jumped from 1,425,021 acres in 1931 to 2,474,314 acres in 1945 (the latest figure available). Wheat was jumped from 20,848 acres in '31 to 662,498 acres in 1945. Sugar beets increased from 5,612 acres to 84,522.

De Valera's government also inaugurated small industries in rural areas in order to provide employment and keep people from emigrating. Eire started to mill her own wheat, and to make her own sugar.

Result: Eire today is more prosperous than ever before in history. And officials will tell you that there is no hunger these days.

PERMANENT YOUTH COUNCIL PROPOSED

Plan Suggested To Help Solve Community Problem.

Representatives of six Marion civic groups will meet Monday night, Feb. 15, with a committee of five prominent local citizens to consider plans for the formation of a permanent council for youth activities in the community. The meeting will be held at St Paul's Episcopal church at 7:30 p. m. under sponsorship of the Boys and Girls committee of the Kiwanis club.

Chairman A. T. Allen of the Kiwanis committee will be joined by Ralph Carhart, Juvenile Judge Edward J. Ruzzo, Charles Myers and L. Otis Porter, Marion Community Foundation president, to form a planning group which will be assisted by representatives of the Kiwanis, Rotary, Exchange, Lions, and Y's Men's clubs and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The problem facing the planners will be the forming of an organization to effectively combat existing causes of juvenile delinquency in Marion and creation of a program of youth activities which the organization can implement to offset delinquency in the future by providing wholesome youth activities for boys and girls in each age group.

The Memoirs of Cordell Hull

President and Hull Led Fight to Repeal Embargo on Arms

INSTALLMENT XIII

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT agreed to call a White House meeting of the senate leaders of both parties for the evening of July 18, 1939. At this meeting the President and I intended to make a final appeal for support of the bill (eliminating the arms embargo from the Neutrality Act) or, failing in this, to make the opposition take the responsibility for what would happen if the legislation were not passed. Both the President and I felt we had to make one last, supreme attempt to prevail on the senate leaders to recognize fully and clearly the perils to our own nation that were just ahead if war should come in Europe.

As the meeting came to order in the President's upstairs study, a reasonable cordiality was apparent on the surface, but the feeling underneath was tense. Among those attending were Vice President Garner; Majority Leader Barkley; Key Pittman; Minority Leader McNary; Warren Austin, deputy minority leader, and William E. Borah, ranking minority member of the foreign relations committee.

The President opened the discussion by referring to Senator Nye's extreme isolationist views which were blocking the passage of our measure in the senate. Borah rather quickly interrupted and, with a sweeping gesture, said, "There are others, Mr. President." The President, somewhat taken back, turned to him and asked, "What did you say, Senator Borah?" Borah thereupon repeated, "There are others, Mr. President." A dialogue followed between the President and Borah, during which Borah emphasized his opposition to repeal of the arms embargo and stated emphatically his view that no war would occur, at least in the near future.

THE PRESIDENT thereupon turned to me and said, "Cordell, what do you think about the possibility of danger ahead?"

I replied earnestly, restraining myself as much as I could, "If Senator Borah could only see some of the cables coming to the state department about the extremely dangerous outlook in the international situation, I feel satisfied he would modify his views."

Thereupon Borah, in a tone of emphasis and absolute finality, said he had access to information from abroad which satisfied him in his judgment. This information was that there would be no war in Europe in the near future. He implied that it was more reliable information than that received at the state department.

More recently I have noticed publication of what purported to be Senator Borah's written memorandum of this conversation. I shall not enter into a discussion of the precise verbiage of the conversation, but I must say that Borah's language created the definite, fixed understanding in my mind as to what occurred, as I have just related it. President Roosevelt made clear on more than one occasion that he derived the same understanding as I had from Borah's utterances.

NEVER IN MY PAST experience had I found it nearly so difficult to restrain myself and refrain from a spontaneous explosion. I knew from masses of official facts piled high on one another at the state department that Borah was everlastingly wrong and that we were looking squarely at a state of imminent danger of a general outbreak of war before the end of summer—and I said so. Borah's statement, giving more credit to his private sources of information than to the official state department dispatches, was a disparagement of our whole diplomatic service.

After other leaders of both parties had unanimously expressed their view that it was impossible to secure the passage of our embargo repeal through congress, the President turned to me and asked: "Cordell, what do you think about the situation?"

I had been on the verge of an explosion during the minutes that followed Borah's reflection on myself and the state department. My agitation was probably not concealed as I replied to the President, "I scarcely know what to think about anything in the light of the complacent way Senator Borah has brushed aside the whole mass of facts we have at the state department, which completely disprove his theory that there will be no war." I could scarcely proceed further without losing my self-control, so deeply was I convinced of the dangers just ahead and so greatly did I feel outraged at the brusque manner in which all these facts and considerations were ignored.

AT MIDNIGHT, as the meeting ended on this tone, the White House issued two communiques. One stated the consensus of the senators present, Democrat and Republican, that no action on neutrality legislation could be obtained at this session of congress but that it would be considered at the next session. The other stated: "The President and the secretary of state maintained the definite position that failure by the senate to take action now would weaken the leadership of the United States in exercising its potent influence in the cause of preserving peace among other nations in the event of a new crisis in Europe between now and next January."

Only five weeks later we had to exert that influence in a final effort to prevent a European war. Our influence, so far as Hitler was concerned, was undoubtedly weakened by his realization that congress had refuseld to follow the lead of the administration, and by his belief that Britain and France could not obtain arms, ammunition, or airplanes in the United States.

Immediately after the meeting

JOHN N. GARNER
He attended an important conference.

Senator Borah, followed by Senator McNary, disclaimed to me the least idea of reflecting on me or on my official position in any way. But it was not possible to apologize for reflecting on the state department, which I headed. I received these disclaimers coldly. I give Borah credit for the best of intentions, but I am forced to conclude that he was so terribly wrought up as not to think clearly.

I had frequently invited Borah to come to the state department where I could show him dispatches from our diplomatic missions in Europe and Asia and talk over the general foreign situation with him, but he never did me this courtesy. What could I have shown him if he had come to the department during the discussions on neutrality? Among dozens of other references, there were these:

OUR CHARGE IN BERLIN, Alexander Kirk, cabled me on May 13 that the diplomatic representatives of many other nations although not expecting immediate German action against Poland, were very pessimistic about the chances of avoiding a conflict. The prevailing impression in Berlin foreign military circles was that Germany was militarily able to move against Poland at any time. On June 24 Kirk reported that rumors of unusual troop movements and continued military activity in Germany had created the general impression that preparations were being made for some eventuality.

Ambassador Bullitt cabled from Paris on May 16 that Premier Daladier had expressed the opinion that peace would probably continue through June but he was not, on the whole optimistic. One month later Bullitt cabled that Foreign Minister Bonnet told him that, while he did not expect any immediate aggression by Germany, he was certain of a major crisis before the end of the summer. On June 28 Bullitt cabled the opinion of the Polish ambassador to France that the chances were eighty out of a hundred that war would come between Poland and Germany by the middle of August. On June 30 Bullitt cabled the belief of Alexis Leger, of the French foreign office that a crisis of the gravest character was inevitable before the middle of August.

Polish Ambassador Count Potocki said to me on May 31 that Hitler would be obliged to take some step in some direction during the coming months. On June 26 Potocki informed me that his country was preparing increasingly to fight in case Germany should start a war. I commented to him that conditions in Europe were not favorable. Increasing signs and circumstances of an ominous nature were appearing. Sooner or later—no one could say when—with Europe so highly geared to a war basis, something very serious was likely to occur unless in the meantime something were done to avoid it.

FROM LONDON Ambassador Kennedy cabled me on June 27 Lord Halifax's thought that the German situation was very uneasy and that there was ample opportunity for trouble before the end of the next month. On July 5 Kennedy cabled that Halifax had told him the British were calling up their reserves of ships and navy personnel, ostensibly for maneuvers in August, but actually in order to have the navy ready a month before trouble might come, on the assumption that this would be in September.

Our Charge at The Hague, J. Webb Benton, reported on June 3 the opinion of Admiral Furstner, chief of the Netherlands naval staff, that Hitler might resort to war between the middle and end of August, after the harvest, and Furstner referred to known German efforts to harvest the crops as rapidly as possible.

Moreover, we were receiving from our diplomatic missions abroad constant reports on developments in Europe indicating continued German pressure on Poland and maneuvers to get possession of Danzig, and on difficulties in the way of any immediate conclusion of an Anglo-Soviet agreement toward which British diplomacy had been working for several months.

ALL THESE DISPATCHES Borah and his associates could have seen if they had wanted to. But Borah chose instead to rely for his information on what was later reported to be a minor press service in London.

Here was the last effective stand of the powerful isolation movement in the United States. The movement continued its fight by every means at hand and it remained a danger, but after war came in Europe it was never again able to thwart an administration proposal.

No one can say definitely that the failure of our efforts to lift the arms embargo was a final, or even an important, factor in Hitler's ultimate decision to go to war. I am certain, however, that, if the arms embargo had been lifted in May, June or even July, 1939, he would inevitably have had to take this factor into his calculations. I am equally certain that the failure to lift the embargo encouraged him to go ahead, stimulated by Foreign Minister Ribbentrop's assurances that Britain and France would not really come to the assistance of Poland and that, if they did, they would be unable to do so effectively because American material help would be withheld from them. On July 20, Bullitt, in a cable from Paris for the President, said the opinion in both London and Paris was that the probability of Hitler's deciding to make war in August had been increased by congress's decision to postpone action on neutrality legislation, and that British Foreign Under Secretary Vansittar was betting two to one that war would come in August.

WHEN AUGUST CAME, the end was in sight. For nearly seven years Hitler had been building up military forces and tearing down treaty observance and respect for international law. The moment had arrived to make a shambles of Europe and bring death to tens of millions of men, women and children.

Shortly after midnight on September 1, the telephone rang beside the President's bed. Bullitt was on the phone from Paris. German troops had crossed the borders of Poland.

Efficient use of new cars and locomotives provides improved freight and passenger service

IN the face of rising costs of the 1001 items used to run a railroad . . . with increased labor costs and higher taxes . . . the Erie Railroad made railroading progress in 1947 through the efficient use of new and improved equipment. $11,200,000 of new equipment was placed in service last year, and $19,200,000 is already programmed for 1948.

New and improved equipment means better transportation service—but these improvements must be paid for out of earnings. That's why the railroads must have rates high enough to enable them to earn at least a 6% return on their net property investment. In 1947, Erie's return was only 3.2%.

...lecture in Bal... during which he remarked:

"Football fraternities and fun were designed to make a college education palatable for those who shouldn't be there."

In his theory the people "who shouldn't be there" are those who go to college for a vocational or technical education. He believes universities should be reserved for those who seek the intellectual life on a high and ardent level—Aristotle for breakfast, Thomas Aquinas for lunch, Kant for dinner.

His ideal is the medieval university at which students pored over metaphysics and philosophical classics, thereby, Hutchins holds, learning to think so that they could discover the truth for themselves. This system, of course, created its share of wandering intellectual bums just as amateur tennis today has produced a number of traveling athletic tramps.

THESE UNEMPLOYED career high-brows could argue learnedly on how many angels could sit on the point of a needle—a hot argument in those days—but they weren't much help when somebody had to get in the hay harvest from the fields.

As a graduate of a state university which had its share of "football, fraternities and fun," I find it difficult to understand the learned doctor's abhorrence of this happy trinity of American education.

Plato, one of the intellectual rockets of history, was an able wrestler. Most of the football players I knew did better than fair in their studies, and their only complaint was they weren't being paid enough for the labors in the stadium—which was true at that time. I understand now football players generally are better paid and that is as it should be. Football is work.

COLLEGE FRATERNITIES do make some snobs, but so does Phi Beta Kappa, the honorary fraternity of the learned. The social fraternities also teach shy country boys how to get along with people and to refrain from wiping their noses with their dinner napkins. Phi Beta Kappa doesn't do this—it merely honors a number of high-thinking students wh may know nothing they haven't read in a book.

The third thing Dr. Hutchins objects to—fun—keeps all life and learning from becoming sterile nonsense. No greater threat to democracy could exist than a generation educated without a sense of humor. If Hitler was capable of a belly laugh, we might have been spared the second World war.

There is no reason why a boy can't go to college, study for a career, learn to enjoy Socrates and the world of ideas—and still find time to watch a football game Saturday afternoon and go to a fraternity dance Saturday night. A man ought to quit any college he doesn't have fun at—or resign from living altogether, for that matter, if it ceases to entertain him to a reasonable degree.

As an admirer of the glacial consistency of Bob Hutchins, A. B., A.M., LL.B., LL.D., I can't quite understand the logic of his wrath against college fraternities. The latest volume of "Who's Who in America" lists him as belonging to eight social and business clubs and two honorary clubs in three cities on two continents.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

MISS CARLOTTA CARROLL stepped impulsively forward at my father's introduction, her shapely hand held out, and her beautiful lips curved in a cordial smile.

"Mrs. Graham!" she said. "You cannot know how I have wanted to meet you. I have admired your play so much. I saw it every time I came to New York. And I was delighted to see in the dramatic columns that you are at work on another one, and that Mary Verrilton is well again, and is to star in it. I'm just living for the opening."

Usually an approach like that "leaves me cold" in Dicky's parlance. I have become accustomed to it, since Mary made such a success of my play on Broadway. But surprisingly there was so genuine a note of sincerity in Carlotta Carroll's voice—or else, I told myself cynically, she should be snatching Mary's laurels on the stage—that I felt myself warming to her.

"Thank you," I said. "You are very kind." But I do not think she heard my acknowledgment. I was to learn that when Carlotta Carroll was genuinely interested in a conversation, everybody else sat around and listened.

I think we all succumbed to her charm at once. I know I did. It was not only that she was beautiful, as beautiful as Grace Draper ever had been, although, as I mentally "picked her to pieces," I realized that her resemblance to Dicky's wraith was not as strong as I first had thought. But she had a warmth, a cordiality, which Grace never had had, and even masked by the trivialities of polite conversation, one sensed a brilliant brain and great competence, qualities which Grace had not possessed.

But this woman would stand out in any group. She radiated beauty, keen mentality, great competence, all imbued with an almost childlike friendliness.

"I love you all!" she appeared to be saying. "Please love me."

It would not be hard to follow that injunction, I reflected as she began to talk to Dicky. I gave her another long look as I noticed her attitude. I rarely have seen a woman who did not subtly or openly show her realization that my husband is an unusually attractive man. But Carlotta Carroll did not change an inflection of her voice, or increase the curve of her smile, or the expression of her eyes. She might still have been talking to me. I was to learn later that this was distinctive of her, the absolute lack of coquetry in her manner to men.

She did not need to use the ordinary feminine lures, I told myself as I watched her. Her frankness, her apparent lack of interest about the woman he had [illegible] in a man as a possible conquest, would be fascinatingly intriguing to a man not insulated by his love for some other woman.

With speculation in my eyes, I turned them on Mr. "K." There had been something in his manner and his eyes which had made me wonder if he were not harboring fugitive romantic thoughts to my father's attention. But he was not watching her. He was engrossed in low-voiced conversation with my father, a conversation which ended with the Chief's voice recalling us all from trivialities to reality.

"Will you all be seated, please?" he said, and Harry, Dicky and Mr. "K." hastily put Miss Carroll, Lillian and me into chairs, and then took seats themselves, while my father, from his big armchair, faced us all.

"I want you to hear from Miss Carroll's own lips of the plan which she has for helping us," he said.

DELAWARE FIGHTER HURT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 9—Lightweight Harry Hart of Delaware broke his right hand yesterday while training for a Feb. 18 fight at Akron with Talmadge Buzzey of Detroit.

Wilmington-Rio Grande Clash Highlights 54-Game Schedule

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS O., Feb. 9—Ohio college cagers play 54 games this week but 53 of them must take a back seat when Wilmington's Quakers and Rio Grande's Redskins conclude their Tuesday tussle down in the Gallia county hills.

Last Tuesday the Wilmington-Rio Grande tilt at Wilmington [illegible] 49-41 on the Redskins' [illegible] set off the season's No. 1 argument. It recorded both a conference win for the losers and put Rio Grande on the Buckeye woods after the week's encounter.

The rival coaches have handled quite a few words back and forth—many applied to the name of "Buck" and Buckwood (Quaker) each other and Rio Grande's top record of the season is expected tomorrow night to see it tempers flare again.

The Ohio clubs go into the week's big round—including 24 games with out-of-state foes—with new leaders in both Ohio Conference and state-wide play. Ohio Wesleyan's Battling Bishops defeated Capital's Crusaders and state champions last week taking over the conference leadership with six wins in conference games to put all the way for sixth to [illegible] in the all-games sector.

Toledo, Xavier 2nd

The Wilberforce club on the most narrow of margins, over Toledo and Xavier, deadlocked for second with 17 wins in 20 starts. Wilberforce has won 12 of 14.

Bowling Green's high-flying Falcons, last week's second place players, dropped to sixth, falling before Xavier's surprising Musketeers 51-49 in an overtime and then to Western Kentucky 66-52 during a disastrous road trip. Back home Saturday, Bowling Green had a tough time beating Dayton 71-68. Dayton has broken even in 16 tilts.

Wesleyan is almost certain to maintain the conference lead through this week. The Bishops' only league game is with Denison, loser in nine of 10 conference contests.

The remainder of the conference has some interesting trays on tap, however, with two of the big ones coming up tonight. Second-place Capital entertains fourth-place Muskingum — the same Muskies who defeated the Lutherans by a point earlier in the season — and third-place Wooster must beat back fifth-place Akron to stay up there. All are bunched so closely the victors must move up a notch.

2 Games This Week

Wilberforce State, defeated only by Kentucky State and Tennessee State, has two games this week. Cedarville furnishes the opposition tonight, and Lincoln U. of Missouri invades Friday.

Cincinnati and Miami have a chance to take over the Mid-American Conference leadership for which they now are deadlocked with Butler at three wins and one loss. Miami gets first chance at the undisputed leadership Tuesday against Ohio U's fourth-place Bobcats. Then Cincinnati and the Butlers tangle Saturday at Indianapolis to decide which drop from contention. The Cincinnatis beat the Butlers 72-53 in their first meeting.

Last week Ohio squads won 18 and lost 12 against out-of-state opponents, giving the Buckeye teams 117 victories and 88 defeats in such play for the season.

PROSPECT ALL STARS WIN DOUBLE HEADER

Prospects All-Stars won a double header Saturday at Prospect as they downed Hensel Bros. 56-30, and followed with a win over Universal Cooler, 71-41. Cooler, who also played a twin bill, trampled the Prospect Merchant team 31-17 in their first game.

Kessler was high scorer in both contests played by the All-Stars as he hit for 18 points in each, while Reid made 9 and 10 points in each to take high two-game honors.

Thursday night the All-Stars will play Delaware Screw Production, in a game that will pit Len Visci, Delaware coach, against Coach Kessler, Little All-American, now coaching the Prospect high school team. Prospect Merchants will entertain Marion Navy Club—both games to be played at Prospect.

U. S. Places 3rd in Final Winter Olympic Standings

By The Associated Press

ST MORITZ, SWITZERLAND, Feb. 9 — The fifth winter Olympic games were ended, but the discord of an unprecedented ice hockey row lingered on today as the athletes headed for their homes in 28 nations.

Sweden won the majority of honors during the 10 days of competition. The United States finished third in total points.

The United States provided an unexpected heroine in Mrs. Gretchen Fraser, winner of the women's special ski salom and second in the alpine combination ski event.

France's Henri Oreiller was the star individual performer, winning two first places in downhill skiing and the alpine combined.

But long after these performances are foregotten, the tug-of-war over which of two United States hockey teams should represent the U. S. A. will be remembered.

The U. S. Olympic committee hockey team came, saw, and remained just tourists in this picturesque alpine resort, where tattered bunting flaps lazily over worn and dirty snow.

Its rival, the Amateur Hockey Association of America, was accepted as the U. S. entry by the Swiss Olympic committee. The A. H. A. team played in the nine-team tournament, and finished a good fourth behind Canada, Czechoslovakia and Switzerland. This fourth place, however, will never show in Olympic records.

For the International Olympic committee ruled out the A. H. A. Avery Brundage, American I.O.C. member, said the A. H. A. represents commercial interest in ice hockey.

The final standings:

Sweden 82 points, Switzerland 77, United States 73¼, Norway 69½, Austria 51, Finland 49, France 39, Italy 25, Canada 24¼, Belgium 18, Britain 15, Hungary and Czechoslovakia 10, Holland 6, and Poland one.

The Americans won three firsts. One was in its old specialty—the four man bobsled event which went to the daring team piloted by Frank Tyler of Lake Placid, N. Y.

The other two were "first-time" firsts—18-year-old Dick Button of Englewood, N. J., men's figure skating, and Mrs. Fraser, Vancouver, Wash., housewife in the special slalom.

NEW SCORING RECORD IS SET BY COMSTOCK

Ends County League Cage Season with 235 Points.

Caledonia's Kenneth Comstock wound up the county basketball season with 235 points in 11 league games to set a new county league record. Pleasant's Charles Mayers dropped in 204 points for second place. He set a record last year with 210.

Kirkpatrick's Ransom Jones came in third with 155 and La Rue's Harold Brocklesby made the fourth position with 150 in 11 games.

The Caledonia combine placed four men in the top 25, besides Comstock, Gene Fleming, John Robertson and Jerry Jaggers. Pleasant cagers besides Mayers who made the list were Randy Dickerson and Jack Merchant. Morral also placed three—Weston Granlee and McCumber—and La Rue cagers who made it were Brocklesby and Tate.

Meeker, which found up the season in a fifth place tie with Waldo, placed Yost, Williams, Parsell and Brown on the list, but Waldo's Smith was their only representative.

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Feb. 9 — Veteran Track Coach Jack Ryder today rated Gil Dodds as the greatest of his pupils who have won a total of 93 national track championships since 1907.

Dodds rocked the sports world a week ago Saturday when he lowered his own indoor mile record from 4:06.4 to 4:05.3 but Ryder says he can wreck several other marks.

Dodds gained his 21st consecutive indoor mile victory here Saturday night, without the slightest competition. He turned in a 4:08.1 stint, the fastest that distance has been run indoors in Boston.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 9 — Individual issues extended their recent irregularity in today's session as many leaders changed little or nothing.

Trading was quiet from the start but advances, mainly fractions, predominated during the early afternoon. Profit taking and other selling by professionals was evident as the hope that a technical rebound was a likelihood caused a more apparent average drop to the lowest point since last June. Brokerage customers generally continued to hold aloof to await developments on taxes and price trends over the long pull.

Modest improvement was registered for U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Studebaker, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, Consolidated Edison, American Smelting, Phelps Dodge, Dow Chemical, American Woolen, United Air Lines, Paramount Pictures, Gulf Oil, Great Northern Railway and Chesapeake & Ohio. Hesitant were Standard Oil of Calif., Southern Pacific, Northern Pacific and Pullman.

Nation's Job Boom Now Seen at End

NEW YORK—The nation's job boom is definitely over, Lawrence W. Zimmer, director of the New York University employment service, believes.

Zimmer said men and women graduating from college at the end of the current semester have a fair chance of getting a job, but they must have something on the ball to do so.

A survey showed that graduates entering public and private accounting have the best job prospects. The survey found the engineering field "spotty," the merchandising management field "fair," and advertising, journalistic and investment banking work very poor.

LEGAL NOTICE

To each person signing or named in the petition and to each other person affected by said improvement.

You and each of you are hereby notified that on the 5th day of February, 1948, the above named petitioner filed a petition with the County Auditor of Marion County, Ohio, for the relocation, construction, reconstruction, straightening, deepening and widening of the Houk open county ditch and the rebuilding of the retaining wall at the end of the Holt county ditch and repairing of part of the tile in the Holt County Ditch. The construction of the improvement is necessary and will be conducive to the public welfare.

The following is the course and termini of said improvement, to-wit: Commencing at the south line of a 100 acre tract owned by Clarence J. Schaber lying in the west side of W. Dunn Survey 10918 in Green Camp Township, where the Holt county tile ditch empties into the Houk open county ditch, thence in a northwesterly direction substantially along the line of said Houk ditch, straightening, widening and deepening the same to county road No. 47; thence following said open ditch along county road 47 to where said open ditch turns in an easterly direction on about the north line of Virginia Military survey No. 10913; thence in a northeasterly direction through Virginia Military Survey No. 9932 in Green Camp Township to the Big Scioto River or far enough down stream in said open ditch toward the Big Scioto River to give a good and sufficient outlet for the lands drained by this improvement, with the right of the County Commissioners to relocate any part of said Houk ditch that lies along said public highway No. 47. Also your petitioners pray for the reconstruction of the retaining wall at the beginning of said open ditch at the end of the Holt tile ditch, and repairing and replacing of about 500 feet of the tile in said Holt ditch from said retaining wall up stream on far enough up stream from said retaining wall to put said tile ditch in good condition, and there terminating, being a distance of about four (4) miles.

It is claimed that the improvement will affect property owned by you.

You are therefore notified that the Board of Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio, have fixed the 8th day of March, 1948, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the upper terminus of the improvement for the view thereon and have fixed the 11th day of March, 1948, at 10 o'clock A. M., at the office of the County Commissioners in Marion, Ohio, as the time and place for the first hearing on said proposed improvement.

Board of Commissioners of Marion County, Ohio.
By W. S. Guilkey, Clerk.

Heads Red Cross Drive at Galion

Special to The Star

GALION—Hugh Wright will be chairman of the Red Cross fund campaign this year, and the goal for Galion will be $6,000, it was announced at a meeting Friday of the executive committee of the Galion chapter. Wright was recently named by the Galion Kiwanis to head the campaign, but his appointment had not previously been announced.

C. W. Tracht presided for the meeting in the Red Cross rooms. At this time, the resignation of M. A. Povenmire, vice chairman, was accepted with regret. Sam Brewer has accepted the position of accident prevention chairman, it was announced. Harriet Ebert, executive secretary of the chapter, reported on various activities.

ON PARK BOARD

CAREY—At a meeting of the village council of Carey, Paul Bland was appointed a member of the Memorial Park board to succeed H. B. Keller whose term expired Jan. 1. At a meeting of the board Paul Krupp was elected president, H. B. Chambers vice president, Gail Newell secretary and Mr. Bland treasurer.

In the Service

Jack K. Gooding, seaman, first class, U. S. Navy, son of Mrs. Helen Wires of 452 Windsor street, is participating in the amphibious training exercises being held on the southern California coast while serving aboard the Attack Squadron-One Able, the Navy news center at Great Lakes, Ill., reports.

The amphibious exercises include landings at San Clemente Island, and at Camp Pendleton, near Oceanside on the California coast. After storming ashore from landing ships and craft, the "leathernecks" of the First Marine Division will maneuver inland to the airfield and develop it for further operations against the "enemy." Live ammunition from fire support ships and planes is used at San Clemente, but only simulated firing is done at Camp Pendleton.

The training at sea consists of such exercises as: seamanship, damage control, engineering, communications, and gunnery.
